TABLE OF CONTENTS

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1. THE AFRICA FIBERCO BIG THREE: AN OVERVIEW

  - Africa Big Three Fiberco – Geographic Reach
  - The Africa Big Three Fiberco – Service Portfolio

2. THE AFRICA FIBERCO BIG THREE: MARKET CONTEXT & BUSINESS CHALLENGE

  - The Top Line Traffic Projections that Underpinned Fiberco Models Have Largely Come to Fruition
  - Price Pressures Are Tightening the International Wholesale Capacity Sales Picture
  - But African Demand for Leased International Capacity is Structurally Unbalanced...
  - International Fiber Utilization Levels Are Relatively Suboptimal
  - African Fiber Market Value Has Resolutely Shifted from International to Domestic Fiber Capabilities
  - Fiber Infrastructure Provider Strategic Options

3. HOW OTHER FIBERCOS DID IT: INTERNATIONAL EXAMPLES

  - Level 3: Transformed Into an Enterprise-Focused Global Infrastructure Bandwidth Provider
  - euNetworks: Focus on Best-In Class, End-to-End Infrastructure Bandwidth Provider

4. REVIEWING STRATEGIC OPTIONS FOR THE BIG THREE FIBERCOS

  - The Best Performing Communications Infrastructure Players Generally Have Regional or Global Scale
  - What They Are Doing - Africa Fiberco Strategic & Tactical Steps
  - The MainOne Case: Overview
  - The MainOne Case: Nigerian Home Market Has Strong Consolidation Potential
  - The MainOne Strategic Case: (Mostly) Organic in the Metro+Enterprise, Buy the National Backhaul
  - The Seacom Case: Overview
  - South Africa’s Communications Infrastructure Market: Thriving, with Room to Grow
  - The Seacom Strategic Case: In Crowded SA Market, Acquisitions Trump Organic Growth
  - The Liquid Telecom Strategic Case: Excellent Position - but Can Liquid Really do Everything?

5. THE CASE FOR (AND AGAINST) A BIG THREE FIBERCO CONSOLIDATION

  - How the Big Three Map Out
  - What a Consolidated Portfolio Would Look Like

6. ASSESSING AFRICA’S BIG THREE FIBERCO AS ACQUISITION TARGETS

  - The Case For an African Acquisition – Truly “Global” Network Scale
  - The Global Player Case Against an African Acquisition – In Truth, There Are No Great Fits
  - The Pan-African Case for a Fiberco Acquisition – Vodacom, Etisalat, PCCW and IS